

Philosophical and Ethnocultural Aspects of Definition for Coastal Maritime Nature Use

Vladimir Bocharnikov

The Pacific Institute of Geography, the Russian Academy of Sciences, 7 Radio St., Vladivostok, vbocharnikov@mail.ru

Abstract

The report is devoted to the problem of scientific understanding and misunderstanding. From philosophic point of view, understanding is main condition which permit achieve success of international partnership. Another goal of this report is to discuss why very famous, original and fundamental conceptions in Russia are almost unknown abroad. This is mean that Russian geographical conception of “prirodopolzovanie” in its translation to English as nature resource management is not adequate. But this translation very reduced real its meaning.

Keywords: bibliographic search, nature, nature recourse use, professional translation