

Riverbed Process Dynamics in Branched Parts of the Lower Amur

Vladimir I. Kim and Alexey N. Makhinov

Institute of Water and Ecological Problems, Far Eastern Branch of Russian Academy of Sciences, 65 Kim Yu Chen str., Khabarovsk 680000, Russia, kim@ivep.as.khb.ru

Abstract

The Amur River in its lower reaches undergoes highly dynamic channel transformation, especially in branched river passages. Sediment accumulation and river branching causes various serious problems. To solve and prevent many of them significant dredging and river stream straightening works are necessary.

Keywords: Amur River, branching, riverbed transformation, sediment accumulation